Towering Rocky Mountain peaks, sapphire lakes, rainbow meadows of wildflowers, and iconic glaciers – Montana’s Glacier and Canada’s Waterton National Parks deliver North America’s most stunning cycling and hiking routes. On this six-day adventure, spend your days traversing through this vast, pristine ecosystem known as the “Crown of the Continent,” and your evenings tucked into the grand national park lodges built over a century ago.

Our tour kicks off in the friendly mountain town of Whitefish with a ride along Whitefish Lake under the shadow of Big Mountain. Next, experience the bucket-list ride for every cyclist – the spectacular Going-to-the-Sun Road in Glacier National Park. Ascend to Logan Pass and cross the Continental Divide, taking plenty of breaks to soak up the natural beauty. Spot golden eagles flying overhead, snowy white mountain goats on the ridges, and even the brazen grizzly foraging in the meadows.

Cross the border into Alberta, Canada where Waterton Lakes and Glacier combine to form Waterton Glacier International Peace Park. You’ll be swept away by the panoramic views of Upper Waterton Lake, where the Prince of Wales Hotel perches majestically on the hilltop – your base for riding and relaxation for two nights. Cap off your sojourn at the historic lodge at Two Medicine Lake in East Glacier. With a perfect farewell dinner, featuring remarkable views of the surrounding landscape.
